

andin came money grabbing managers.

Its a sad story but a familiar one. Those who have the later copies of RG will have seen a marked departure from retro computing - thats the reason I cancelled my subscription.

Sad but not entirely unexpexted.

Metal Dust Cheat

Bruce Thomas recently asked the following question - "Just reading the review of Metal Dust in Commodore Scene 50 by Nigel Parker and Shaun Bebbington and see a note from Shaun on page 142 that there is a hidden cheat mode in Metal Dust. Does anyone have any info on this ?"

Well, if you can enlighten Bruce then please let us know and we'll be glad to pass on the information.

RETRO:BYTES

One of the casualties from the early RG staff cuts was Shaun Bebbington. Well Shaun has started his own commercial magazine called RETRO:BYTES. Watch out for it as it will prove to be a surefire hit.

Pop along to the web site and keep an eye on the progress so far.

<http://www.retro-bytes.co.uk/>

CS Web Site News

If you downloaded this from the CS web Site you will be aware of the changes and updates to the site. I am hoping to incorporate some more stuff before Christmas so watch out for them.

CS2006

The new binder for 2006 is ready for articles and text. If you wish to contribute then please send in your articles and observations and I'll pop them into place.

At the moment I have not worked out a cost for the new binder but what I do know is that there will not be a coverdisk option. However, that does not mean that there won't be any disk at all. What I hope will happen is that through the year will be enough new material, or even a complete demo, that warrants a disk to be supplied with CS2006. This will be a freebie disk so I don't think anybody will complain about that ;-)

CS Newsletter 002

I have a few bits and pieces for the next free newsletter including a complete article about the recent Back In Time Live Event.

The next newsletter should be up in early November. Watch out for it.

Bye for now,

Allan Bairstow